

Interested in Being Paired With a Patient Peer Mentor?

Are you looking to connect with a peer who is thriving with kidney disease?

Are you interested in learning from someone who has kidney disease?

Are you ready to hear more about kidney disease treatment choices?

If you answered “yes” to the questions above, you might benefit from peer mentoring.

What Do I Need to Do to Get Connected With a Peer Mentor?

- Let your facility social worker know that you are interested in being connected with a peer mentor.
- Review courses that are available on the the Peer Mentoring Kidney Learning Hub.
- Attend a Peer Mentoring Program orientation.
- Set aside time to meet with your peer mentor by phone or Zoom at least once a week.

Where Can I Get More Information on the Peer Mentoring Program?

	Talk to a social worker at your facility for more information about peer mentoring.
	Contact your ESRD Network and ask to talk to the Peer Mentoring Program Peer Champion at this phone number:
	Visit www.kidneylearninghub.com .
